Banishment Threat Hurlled In South Africa

Government Warns Negroes against Staging Strike

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The South African government threatened today to banish Negro workers to native reserves in the remote interior if they join the stay-home strike called for next week.

The government's Department of Bantu Administration and Development warned the African work force they would be stripped of their jobs if they heeded the strike called by underground African leaders.

The warning was issued at Cape Town after thousands of leaflets calling for a week-long work boycott were distributed in the Johannesburg area.

The outlawed African National Congress called the strike to force abolition of the passbook system by which white police control movement of nonwhites and to force the release of jailed African leaders.

The government statement reminded Africans that, as a result of work boycotts in the past four weeks in connection with their antipass campaign, many Africans already have lost their jobs. Many who burned their passbooks were left jobless when the government ordered employers not to give work to any African who could not produce a book.

Minister of Justice Francois Erasmus told Parliament earlier this week the government already was "shipping many idle and superfluous Bantu back to their homelands" — meaning from the cities into the backwoods of native reserves.

Today's government statement said:

"The Bantu (African) public are number of Bantu workers were dismissed from their employment as a result of the recent stayaway from work campaign and have since been unemployed. Unless they find work soon they will have to go back to their homelands.

"Bantu workers are therefore, in their own interests warned not to pay any attention to pamphlets or other forms of encouragement for them to stay away from work."

Johannesburg white police already have taken direct action to prevent or break the threatened strike by staging raids to round up alleged Negro inciters.

There was a question whether already are short of money from the previous stoppages. Many also are frightened by the severe police crackdowns.

Furthermore, the African organizations' leadership is badly depleted by jailings.

The effectiveness of the strike will not be apparent before Tuesday because Easter Monday still is a work holiday for most people in South Africa.

The Negro work force went back to work for a half-day today after quiet Good Friday.

French Kidnapers Remain at Large

PARIS (AP)—Police had only a few meager clues today but said they are determined to catch 4-year-old Eric Peugeot's kidnapers. "Kidnaping must not become a profitable enterprise in France," declared on police official.

With little Eric safely back home, brigade investigators obtained interviews with his wealthy father, Roland Peugeot, who apparently would like to see the investigation dropped.

Peugeot, whose family owns a vast automobile and steel empire, had refused to discuss the case while negotiating with the kidnapers for the child's return. He paid them a large ransom and agreed not to seek their arrest.

Blazing Gunfire Thwarts Prison Break Attempt

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Washington State Prison officers cut down with blazing gunfire Friday night two of five convicts who had overpowered three guards in a bold attempt to escape.

One of the wounded prisoners was hit in the face with buckshot. The other was sent sprawling by a rifle bullet in the abdomen as he dashed across a field south of the penitentiary. Neither was hurt critically.

Guards recaptured a third convict unharmed. Two others were still unaccounted for. Acting Supt. William Maclean said it was possible they never made it over the wall.

The flight for freedom started at 7:30 p. m., during the recreation and shower period, in Six Wing when the five convicts jumped three guards and forced the officers, at knifepoint, into the cellblock.

Negroes Ponder Buyers' Strike

Volunteer Martyrs May Be Trained

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Negro students at a meeting in Raleigh, N.C., today were considering a nation-wide campaign of selective buying and the training of volunteers willing to go to jail rather than pay fines for violating segregation laws.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, Negro integration leader, recommended the proposals as a means of helping carry the struggle against racial segregation "into every nook and cranny" of the South.

King described the weekend gathering of students from eight Southern states as a "strategy for victory" meeting.

While the students were arriving fights broke out between on-lookers and pickets demonstrating against lunch counter segregation in the Raleigh business district. It was the first violence in the city in more than a month.

A white youth who joined Negro demonstrators was knocked down and beaten by an unidentified white man. Police said John J. Northrop, 23, a student at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N.Y., suffered a cut on the chin which required seven stitches to close.

Pickets also paraded for three hours in front of downtown Little Rock, Ark., stores, along sections of a New Orleans street, and before the White House in Washington, D.C.

Four teen-age Negroes were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace when they asked for library cards at Winfield, La. The librarian said books generally are made available to Negroes through high school teachers who call for them.

At Memphis, Tenn., five Negro students were arrested after they refused to leave the municipal museum, open to Negroes only on Tuesdays.

School Mergers Planned without Building Program

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — The Highland County school board figures it can answer the state demand to consolidate rural school districts and still use the present buildings.

The board told Friday of its proposal to utilize four small districts in the southeast section of the county.

The plan is to use three high school buildings as specialized centers of instruction, instead of building an expensive new central high school.

One building might be used for home economics, another for vocational-farming courses and a third for an expanded science and liberal arts subjects.

The districts involved are at Sinking Springs, Belfast and Marshall, each having elementary and high school students, and Carmel, which has only an elementary school.

Carrying knives fashioned from table knives honed to a sharp cutting edge, the prisoners stripped the guards of their outer garments and caps, donning the clothing for disguise. The guards, whose names were not disclosed, were locked in the cellblock.

Carrying a makeshift ladder constructed from the frames of cots and bedsprings, the convicts made their way unobserved to the east wall, between guard towers No. 1 and No. 2.

A guard spotted their furtive movements as they placed the ladder against the wall. He ordered them to freeze. They ignored him. He fired a shot over their heads as a second, more deadly warning. They ignored it.

The guard opened fire, along with the two guards in tower No. 1 and the two guards in tower No. 2.

Three men were actually seen clambering up the ladder and disappearing over the wall. One faltered as he reached the top, caught his balance and vanished over the freedom side.

Guards streamed from the prison to the outside grounds.

At the foot of the wall, his face streaked with blood from buckshot wounds, was Jessie L. Davis, 40, committed from King County for robbery. With Davis was Roland Beard, a Yakima County car thief. Neither offered resistance.

Moments later guards spotted Roy Victor Olson, 24, running through the open field. A burst of gunfire sent the Seattle murderer sprawling in the dirt. Guards pounced on him.

Still missing were Joseph W. Nichols, 28, who was sentenced from King County for robbery, and Robert A. Herr, 21, who was convicted of burglary in Spokane County.

Macklin said Nichols and Herr might be hiding on the prison grounds.

Dad Freed From Prison For Easter

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A father imprisoned for slaying a man, will worship with his family on Easter Sunday and return to his job and a fresh start on Monday.

"I have rarely felt more sorry for a defendant," said Judge David L. Ullman in granting Raymond Tomczak's petition for parole.

"Rarely have I felt that a man had more provocation for what he did," explained Judge Ullman, a Jew. "His conduct in prison has been exemplary. He is a devout Catholic and Sunday is Easter. His family has no resources. I am releasing him as of now."

Last summer Tomczak, 32 and the father of six, chased Michael Aquilla, 30, from his home and stabbed him in the back with a bayonet. He was convicted Feb. 5 of second-degree murder.

He said at his trial that Aquilla had been visiting his wife. Judge Ullman observed that Aquilla had been blackmailing Mrs. Tomczak. Her husband's sentence was 1½ to 20 months.

Tomczak has been good to his family, often working double shifts to support them properly, the judge said, and he has been promised his old job as a boatwright if he returns by May 1.

Hog Marketings In Ohio Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Pressing field work and the improvement of spring weather delayed hog marketings this week in many areas, the State Department of Agriculture reported today.

Prices paid for market hogs this week averaged 55 cents higher than last week at $16.75 per 100 pounds.

Sow prices were about unchanged for the week, at $13.50 to 14.25 for choice light sows.

Receipts at 85 interior Ohio yards were 41,432 head this week — 23 per cent less than last week and 6 per cent less than the same period a year ago.

Resurrection Celebration Prepared Around World

Airmen To Try Again To Snag Falling Capsule

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Giant Air Force Flying Boxcars circling near Hawaii play a taut game of cat and mouse with the whizzing Discoverer XI satellite.

The game: Net a parachuting 27-by-33 inch capsule after it's ejected by the satellite blasted into polar orbit Friday from this seaside missile base.

If successful, the recovery paves the way for sending animals and then men into space and bringing them back.

Air recovery of the capsule would be a singular first in man's exploration and conquest of the inky void of space. Nose cones and capsules containing animals have been rocketed into space and recovered. But none has been recovered from orbit.

Six of the previous Discoverer series have achieved orbit. Five carried capsules but none was recovered.

It's a technically tricky celestial game of "pin the tail on the donkey", but space experts are confident it can be accomplished. Scientists at precisely the right moment must trigger the capsule loose from the 19-foot-long satellite circling the earth's poles every 92 minutes.

If the button is pushed at exactly the right time, the capsule will kick loose 200 miles high near the North Pole and drift down into the 150 by 50 mile recovery area southwest of Hawaii.

Eight C119 cargo planes trailing huge nets wait for the capsule. The trick, of course, is to spot the capsule and its parachute. At 40,000 feet, each plane is expected to have 10 chances to net the capsule like a rare butterfly.

The capsule emits a radio signal for the planes to home in on. If they miss, surface ships will attempt to fish the capsule from the sea.

Soviet Area Reported Hit By Uneasiness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Word of unrest in the Kazakh Republic of the Soviet Union has reached diplomatic circles here.

One bloody riot is said to have taken place last October in which there reportedly were several hundred casualties. Soviet troops were sent in after local authorities were unable to quell the uprising.

Such reports sometimes take months to reach Washington because of the tight secrecy of the Iron Curtain.

However, the Soviet press itself has spoken of disturbances and "interruptions in production" in Karaganda Oblast, a province of Kazakhstan. Last fall Nicolai Beloyev, who had been Communist party chief for Kazakhstan, was bounced from his post.

A series of riots and strikes were said to have stemmed from discontent with Moscow's program to impose speedy development on industry and agriculture. The workers want more things like consumer goods and housing.

The republic, which lies north of Iran and Afghanistan, is an important area in Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's drive for economic advance. It has the most extensive remaining virgin land in the Soviet Union.

There are more Russians and Ukrainians in Kazakhstan now than there are natives.

The October riot involving hundreds of casualties was placed at Temir Tan, which is near the capital of Karaganda.

SYMBOLIC — Like the simple elegance and purity of the white lily, Easter Sunday is the culmination of the Christian religious year. On this Sunday local Christians celebrate the Risen Christ, and a rebirth of those truths made known to mankind by Jesus. The lily also is symbolic of Spring . . . wonderful, warm and bright. The Herald wishes all a Happy Easter Day.

Hundreds Fall In Castro Net

Suspected Rebels Are Search Targets

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's agents rounded up hundreds of suspected today in a determined bid to keep a pocket sized revolt against his revolutionary regime from reaching dangerous proportions.

Intelligence officers sought out suspected foes of the Castro regime as the bearded Prime Minister personally led a strong battle-equipped force into the Sierra Maestra Mountains hunting Manuel Beaton and his elusive guerrilla band. Rain and fog hampered the military operation being carried out under a tight lid of secrecy.

Main target of Castro's agents appeared to be members of the Revolution (MRR), an anti-Communist organization said to be directed from abroad by former Castro officials.

Among those reported seized were a number of former members of Castro's 26th of July movement.

Authorities reportedly intercepted an attack on a police post 15 miles south of Havana by a group of youths who had planned to seize arms so they could join Beaton's forces in eastern Cuba.

The pro-Castro newspaper La Calle said police headed off the band wounding one youth and capturing four.

An official news blackout blanketed the operation in the Sierra Maestra where Castro's own revolutionary movement that toppled dictator Fulgencio Batista was born.

An indication of where the search centered for Beaton and his band, estimated at 50 men, came from a group of student hikers who were turned back.

Woman Attacked on Street Here by Unidentified Man

Circleville Police today intensified their search for a man who attacked a local woman last night.

Attacked by an unidentified man was Luanna Davis, 22, of 551 E. Mound St. She was grabbed, but not harmed about 9 p. m. near the E. Mound St. School playground.

Mrs. Davis said she was on her way home from work at the Pickaway Arms, 115 E. Mound St. Police Chief Robert Temple said the screams brought residents of the area who scared the man away.

Mrs. Davis said she was aware a man was following her shortly after she left the Pickaway Arms. However, police said she was unable to get a description of the attacker.

ACCORDING to Chief Temple, the man put one arm around Mrs. Davis' neck and an arm around her waist. She told officers she screamed immediately.

across the Mound St. playground. Max Spangler, 513 E. Mound St., and Melvin Dresbach, an uncle who lives at 412 E. Mound St. Officers said the man quickly dashed across the Mound St. playground.

Police scoured the entire neighborhood, but found no trace of the man or further identification of him.

Chief Temple said his department is attempting to determine if last night's incident is connected with an alleged sex molester who accosted a young girl at High St. School Wednesday.

Temple said an unidentified man found his way into the girl's room at the school, then approached the youth. He said the girl was not touched.

The two incidents here this week prompted Temple and his entire staff to warn children and adults alike to be wary and take proper precautions.

The chief sounded an urgent request that his department be notified immediately of such attacks.

Freighter Sinks, 23 Sailors Aboard

NEW YORK (AP) — A small freighter with 23 crewmen aboard sank early today off the Virginia coast, the Coast Guard reported.

The telecast, from 11 a. m. to noon on the NBC-TV network will originate from St. Peter in Chains Roman Catholic Cathedral here. The Most Rev. Karl J. Alter, archbishop of Cincinnati, will officiate. A 615-voice choir will take part in the solemn pontifical mass.

Easter Rites To Include Prayer, Song

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Christians around the world prepared today for the joyous celebration of the Resurrection of the Savior, Jesus Christ.

Worshippers will celebrate with prayer, song and reverent exaltation the most glorious Christian holiday of all, Easter Sunday.

Wherever there exists the sign of the Cross, the reverent will make their way to mountaintop altars, to valley shrines, to outdoor arenas and to churches ringing with the happiness of psalms.

Wherever they gather in Christendom, men of all colors and races will hail the risen Christ.

Christian communities observed the solemn Good Friday ritual commemorating Christ's betrayal, passion and death.

In Jerusalem, soldiers of peace walked the way of the Cross. Troops of the United Nations emergency force were among the 12,000 pilgrims who followed the heavy wooden crosses on the route Jesus took from his trial to his crucifixion and burial.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII, commemorating Christ's death on Calvary, walked in stinking feet and knelt to kiss a cross.

The Pontiff bowed his head while a preacher described the suffering of Roman Catholics in Communist lands as "an immense and solemn Good Friday passion that has been intensified and prolonged."

In a Good Friday message for America, the Pope wished for peace and prosperity and expressed hope for "a just and lasting concord between all people."

The Easter Sunday weather outlook for Ohio is for scattered thundershowers over the entire state with cooler temperatures over the western and northern portions.

Showers and thundershowers were expected today in the northern and central Rockies, the southern plains northeastward into the Great Lakes region and from the Gulf states northward into New York. Elsewhere, fair to partly cloudy weather was on tap.

Kansas, Missouri and Illinois took the brunt of Friday night's storms.

A small tornado struck near Louisville, Kan., about 60 miles south of Kansas City, destroying a number of farm buildings and a state highway shop building. It moved into Missouri and dropped nearly seven inches of rain at Pleasant Hill, Mo. Flash floods blocked several points along U.S. 71 between Belton and Peculiar, Mo.

Fair weather except for a few or scattered showers was forecast for Sunday. A few showers are likely near the Northwest Coast, the northern Rockies and the Great Lakes region into upper New England. Scattered thundershowers are possible in the Middle Atlantic states and the mountains of the Carolinas.

Mild temperatures should prevail, except in the north-central tier of states Butte, Mont., reported a chilly 24 above this morning.

SYMBOLIC — Like the simple elegance and purity of the white lily, Easter Sunday is the culmination of the Christian religious year. On this Sunday local Christians celebrate the Risen Christ, and a rebirth of those truths made known to mankind by Jesus. The lily also is symbolic of Spring . . . wonderful, warm and bright. The Herald wishes all a Happy Easter Day.

Hundreds Fall In Castro Net

Suspected Rebels Are Search Targets

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's agents rounded up hundreds of suspected today in a determined bid to keep a pocket sized revolt against his revolutionary regime from reaching dangerous proportions.

Intelligence officers sought out suspected foes of the Castro regime as the bearded Prime Minister personally led a strong battle-equipped force into the Sierra Maestra Mountains hunting Manuel Beaton and his elusive guerrilla band. Rain and fog hampered the military operation being carried out under a tight lid of secrecy.

Main target of Castro's agents appeared to be members of the Revolution (MRR), an anti-Communist organization said to be directed from abroad by former Castro officials.

Among those reported seized were a number of former members of Castro's 26th of July movement.

Authorities reportedly intercepted an attack on a police post 15 miles south of Havana by a group of youths who had planned to seize arms so they could join Beaton's forces in eastern Cuba.

The pro-Castro newspaper La Calle said police headed off the band wounding one youth and capturing four.

An official news blackout blanketed the operation in the Sierra Maestra where Castro's own revolutionary movement that toppled dictator Fulgencio Batista was born.

An indication of where the search centered for Beaton and his band, estimated at 50 men, came from a group of student hikers who were turned back.

Woman Attacked on Street Here by Unidentified Man

Circleville Police today intensified its search for a man who attacked a local woman last night.

Attacked by an unidentified man was Luanna Davis, 22, of 551 E. Mound St. She was grabbed, but not harmed about 9 p. m. near the E. Mound St. School playground.

Mrs. Davis said she was on her way home from work at the Pickaway Arms, 115 E. Mound St. Police Chief Robert Temple said her screams brought residents of the area who scared the man away.

Mrs. Davis said she was aware a man was following her shortly after she left the Pickaway Arms. However, police said she was unable to get a description of the attacker.

ACCORDING to Chief Temple, the man put one arm around Mrs. Davis' neck and an arm around her waist. She told officers she screamed immediately.

Across the Mound St. playground, Max Spangler, 513 E. Mound St., and Melvin Dreshbach, an uncle who lives at 412 E. Mound St. Officers said the man quickly dashed across the Mound St. playground.

Police scoured the entire neighborhood, but found no trace of the man or further identification of him.

Chief Temple said his department is attempting to determine if last night's incident is connected with an alleged sex molester who accosted a young girl at High St. School Wednesday.

Temple said an unidentified man found his way into the girl's restroom at the school, then approached the youth. He said the girl was not touched.

The two incidents here this week prompted Temple and his entire staff to warn children and adults alike to be wary and take proper precautions.

The chief sounded an urgent request that his department be notified immediately of such attacks.

Easter Rites To Include Prayer, Song

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Christians around the world prepared today for the joyous celebration of the Resurrection of the Savior, Jesus Christ.

Worshippers will celebrate with prayer, song and reverent exaltation the most glorious Christian holiday of all, Easter Sunday.

Wherever there exists the sign of the Cross, the reverent will make their way to mountaintop altars, to valley shrines, to outdoor arenas and to churches ringing with the happiness of psalms.

Wherever they gather in Christendom, men of all colors and races will hail the risen Christ.

Christian communities observed the solemn Good Friday ritual commemorating Christ's betrayal, passion and death.

In Jerusalem, soldiers of peace walked the way of the Cross. Troops of the United Nations emergency force were among the 12,000 pilgrims who followed the heavy wooden crosses on the route Jesus took from his trial to his crucifixion and burial.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII, commemorating Christ's death on Calvary, walked in stockinged feet and knelt to kiss a cross.

The Pontiff bowed his head while a preacher described the suffering of Roman Catholics in Communist lands as "an immense and solemn Good Friday passion that has been intensified and prolonged."

In a Good Friday message for America, the Pope wished for peace and prosperity and expressed hope for "a just and lasting concord between all people."

The Easter Sunday weather outlook for Ohio is for scattered thundershowers over the entire state with cooler temperatures over the western and northern portions.

Showers and thundershowers were expected today in the northern and central Rockies, the southern plains northeastward into the Great Lakes region and from the Gulf states northward into New York. Elsewhere, fair to partly cloudy weather was on tap.

Kansas, Missouri and Illinois took the brunt of Friday night's storms.

A small tornado struck near Louisville, Kan., about 60 miles south of Kansas City, destroying a number of farm buildings and a state highway shop building. It moved into Missouri and dropped nearly seven inches of rain at Pleasant Hill, Mo. Flash floods blocked several points along U.S. 71 between Belton and Peculiar, Mo.

Fair weather except for a few or scattered showers was forecast for Sunday. A few showers are likely near the Northwest Coast, the northern Rockies and the Great Lakes region into upper New England. Scattered thundershowers are possible in the Middle Atlantic states and the mountains of the Carolinas.

Mild temperatures should prevail, except in the north-central tier of states. Butte, Mont., reported a chilly 24 above this morning.

DiSalle Asks Hospital Bill Collections

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle reiterated today the state would attempt to collect delinquent accounts for care of mental patients without causing hardship.

He took exception at his Cabinet meeting to a newspaper account of difficulties attributed to action to collect in a Cleveland case.

The governor recently announced the state would bring up to date about 260,000 back files on overdue accounts for care of patients in mental hospitals. He estimated about 25 million dollars might be collected.

"We said the state should not try to impose hardship upon hardship," the governor recalled.

"We said that if there was an estate, the state would file its claim like any other creditor. I see no reason why people should inherit from an estate that was accumulated in part by not paying the state."

"I don't understand why people feel they should pay the state less for care of a child that is ill than they would pay to keep a well child at home."

Adj. Gen. Loren G. Windom said federal agents are authorized to make collections the same way. Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers asserted the state should not put a premium on non-payment of outstanding bills.

DiSalle Asks Hospital Bill Collections

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle reiterated today the state would attempt to collect delinquent accounts for care of mental patients without causing hardship.

He took exception at his Cabinet meeting to a newspaper account of difficulties attributed to action to collect in a Cleveland case.

The governor recently announced the state would bring up to date about 260,000 back files on overdue accounts for care of patients in mental hospitals. He estimated about 25 million dollars might be collected.

"We said the state should not try to impose hardship upon hardship," the governor recalled.

"We said that if there was an estate, the state would file its claim like any other creditor. I see no reason why people should inherit from an estate that was accumulated in part by not paying the state."

"I don't understand why people feel they should pay the state less for care of a child that is ill than they would pay to keep a well child at home."

Adj. Gen. Loren G. Windom said federal agents are authorized to make collections the same way. Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers asserted the state should not put a premium on non-payment of outstanding bills.

and safety leader, and Jessica Pearl as scrapbook leader.

Our next meeting will be May 16, 1960, at 7:30 p. m. at the Fairgrounds. We will have a scrap drive. Members will tell what they can get at the next meeting.

Ohio Officials Plan All-Out Drive To Wipe Out Hog Cholera in State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A virus only a 250,000th of an inch long is increasing the price of the pork chops you purchase.

It causes hog cholera, a disease that costs Ohio's livestock producers about $2,400,000 in pig deaths each year.

"Consumers pay for that loss in the price of pork," says Dr. Harry G. Geyer, veterinarian in charge of the Division of Animal Industry in the Ohio Department of Agriculture.

Geyer and his boss, Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune, are awaiting word from the Ohio Swine Feeders and Breeders Assn. before starting an intensive campaign to eradicate the disease, which was noted in southern Ohio—for the first time anywhere—in 1833.

Only about 35 per cent of the 2,700,000 or so swine raised yearly in Ohio are vaccinated against the lethal virus, Geyer estimates, although the national average is a still-lower 37 per cent. Ohio ranks about fifth in the nation in swine production.

"If everybody did what he was supposed to, we could wipe out this disease in three years," Geyer contends. "We're ready to go on an eradication campaign, but we want a majority—not 51 per cent, but 90 per cent or more—of the swine industry to be willing to get this job done."

It's just sound economics for farmers to vaccinate their hogs,

Geyer and Dr. C. E. Boyd agree. Boyd is veterinarian in charge of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal Disease Eradication Division in Columbus.

At present, 12 nations won't import U.S. (and Ohio) pork because of the danger of spreading the cholera virus, the two veterinarians explain, and this costs the farmer money. Further, it costs about 90 cents to vaccinate a hog, and the money involved in the loss of one pig, say $34, could protect a great many more in the herd.

As it stands, anyone who eats pork has consumed some of the virus.

But humans aren't susceptible to the virus which, although it kills more hogs than any other single disease, will die in an hour if exposed to sunlight.

However, if scraps of pork containing the virus are removed from the dinner table and fed to the hogs, any that have not been vaccinated will be infected. Agriculture officials say this is one of the problems related to spread of cholera.

"We've been fighting this disease for a long time," he adds. "ment laboratories at Reynoldsburg (east of Columbus) were built in 1912 to prepare vaccine. But the highest percentage of vaccination we've ever had in this state is about 47 per cent."

"We've got to do better than that if we are going to get rid of a disease that's been with Ohio since the very beginning."

North-South Freeway Route Due To Be Marked by August

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—By August, Ohio 1 will be marked out officially from Cincinnati to Cincinnati, Highway Director Everett S. Preston said today.

The new route, often called the North-South Freeway, will be nowhere near complete by then, he added, but the department will incorporate existing highways temporarily and give them a temporary Ohio 1 designation to fill in the gaps.

One section already completed is in the northeast corner of the state between Ohio 528 and Ohio 7, a stretch of about 30 miles. By June 30, the department expects to have the 43-mile section from Painesville to the Pennsylvania line completed. This includes the section between Ohio 528 and Ohio 7.

Also completed now are sections in north-central Ohio from Ohio 95 near Mount Gilead to U.S. 230 near Ashland, and from U.S. 221 west of Akron to Ohio 18 in the Medina area. And, again by June 30, the entire 85-mile section from Ohio 18 south to Ohio 61—midway between Columbus and Mount Gilead—is expected to be ready. This includes the two completed sections.

By August, the department further expects to have the section from Ohio 61 south to Ohio 161, just north of Columbus, completed.

Preston said the gap between the section ending at Ohio 18 near

Medina, and the section running east from Painesville, will be bridged by using Ohio 18 east, U.S. 21 north, Ohio 82 east, and Ohio 44 north.

The east and south legs of the Cleveland outerbelt, approved for the federal interstate system, must be completed before any straight-line hook-up between the Ohio 18 and Painesville sections of Ohio 1 is attempted, he declared.

"Then," he added, "we'll see if it's economically justified."

Preston said he is satisfied after a conference this week that the D. R. Smalley & Sons construction firm of Celina, under new management, can complete the important sections for which it holds contract. The firm has had financial troubles in the past.

"I want to emphasize that the Cincinnati-to-Columbus portion of Ohio 1 has not been shelved," the director went on. "It has been a part of the interstate system since 1947, and will remain a part of the system."

"It does, however, have a low priority when compared with many other portions of the system." U.S. 40 between Columbus and U.S. 25 north of Dayton is now four-lane the entire distance. A total of 43 miles of six-lane divided freeway (Interstate 75) between Dayton and Cincinnati will be open July 31. This will run from Alexander-Bellbrook on the north to Glendale-Milford Road in Cincinnati.

Ohio Sales Taxes Reach $195,615,791

Ohio sales tax collections reached a grand total of $195,615,791 through April 2, according to the State Treasurer's office.

This sum surpassed the 1959 total of $170,208,816 by $25,406,975, resulting in an increase of 14.9 per cent.

Contrary to state figures, Pickaway County's prepaid tax receipts were down $88,905.80 from last year's sales taxes. Sales taxes through April 2 totaled $208,124.20 compared to the 1959 taxes at the same date of $297,030.

In corresponding weeks, sales taxes collected the week ending April 2 amounted to $4,420.62 while last year the same week collected $7,615.93.

MOTOR vehicle sales tax collections for the week ending April 2 were $4,014.69 and collections through April 2 were $121,290.

Revenue collected from the sale of prepaid tax receipts for the week of April 12 totaled $3,323,262. This figure again was more than one million dollars short of collections during the comparable period of 1959.

The decrease of $1,016,288 or 23.5 per cent from last year's $4,339,550 can be traced to the discontinued use of prepaid tax receipts on the sale of motor vehicles.

This source of income has netted the State $1,083,468 for the past seven days. This would more than off set the above mentioned decrease.

DiSalle Aide Goes To Bat For Ohio Firm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State officials today received credit for postponing award of a contract for Panama Canal equipment to a Japanese firm instead of an Ohio company.

Koder M. Cillison, Department of Industrial and Economic Development director, said further consideration would be given to a bid by the Ohio firm to build $270,000 worth of locomotives and cranes for the canal.

Federal officials were prepared to bypass the Plymouth Locomotive Works, near Mansfield, and award the contract to the foreign firm until Gov. Michael V. DiSalle sent Cillison to Washington to intervene. The governor said the contract would bolster employment in a area approaching a labor surplus.

Collision released a Telegram to Leo A. Houghy of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization and others in Washington. After reviewing the labor situation in Plymouth, the message read:

"Because of the importance of the canal zone national defense, it is to the interest of the defense of the United States that the award go to a company capable of supplying parts and services in event of any national emergency."

Louisville Barn Loss Is Set at $100,000

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — A 90 by 40-foot barn on the Weaverdale Farms near Louisville burned to the ground Friday night with loss estimated at $100,000. Lightning was blamed for starting the blaze in a haymow of the barn which contained 70 tons of hay, 10 tons of straw and grain.

A herd of 100 pure-bred registered Holstein cattle were saved, but four calves were lost, along with a tractor, truck and other equipment. Dr. Harry Weaver of Alliance, owner of the 225-acre farm which supplies milk to an Alliance-area dairy, estimated the loss.

Hugh Gibson, who died in 1954, was during his career U.S. minister to Poland, Switzerland, Belgium and Luxembourg, and U.S. ambassador to Brazil.

3 Ordained Women Priests Under Fire in Swedish Church

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Three women stepped into pulpits of Sweden's Lutheran State Church last week amid a storm of criticism and episcopal threats of boycott.

The three, all unmarried, are the first women in Swedish history to be ordained priests.

The question whether to let women take priestly office has divided the Swedish State Church into two camps and has rocked relations between the Church and the State.

Some bishops campaigned for a boycott of the first women priests, while others, including Archbishop Gunnar Hultgren of Upsala, the primate of Sweden, have welcomed them into their dioceses. Still others have not made up their minds.

The clergy against women priests base their argument on the first epistle of Paul to the Corinthians:

"Let women keep silence in the churches I Cor. (14:34)."

And the church assembly, an advisory body composed of 50 clergymen and 50 laymen, in 1958 voted 69-29 against female ministers. Two members abstained.

But the women priests have law on their side.

The priestly offices were made available to them by an act of Parliament that went into effect on Jan. 1, 1959.

Soft-spoken, scholarly Archbishop Hultgren conferred the orders on one of the women, the Rev. Margit Sahlin, 46, in the chapel of the St. Catherine Foundation outside Stockholm last Sunday.

The other women priests are Elizabeth Djurle, 30, and Ingrid Persson, 47, who were ordained at Stockholm Cathedral and Haerenoas Cathedral respectively.

Ohio Officials Plan All-Out Drive To Wipe Out Hog Cholera in State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A virus only a 250,000th of an inch long is increasing the price of the pork chops you purchase.

It causes hog cholera, a disease that costs Ohio's livestock producers about $2,400,000 in pig deaths each year.

"Consumers pay for that loss in the price of pork," says Dr. Harry G. Geyer, veterinarian in charge of the Division of Animal Industry in the Ohio Department of Agriculture.

Geyer and his boss, Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune, are awaiting word from the Ohio Swine Feeders and Breeders Assn. before starting an intensive campaign to eradicate the disease, which was noted in southern Ohio—for the first time anywhere—in 1953.

Only about 35 per cent of the 2,700,000 or so swine raised yearly in Ohio are vaccinated against the lethal virus, Geyer estimates, although the national average is a still-lower 37 per cent. Ohio ranks about fifth in the nation in swine production.

"If everybody did what he was supposed to, we could wipe out this disease in three years," Geyer contends. "We're ready to go on an eradication campaign, but we want a majority—not 51 per cent, but 90 per cent or more—of the swine industry to be willing to get this job done."

It's just sound economics for farmers to vaccinate their hogs,

Geyer and Dr. C. E. Boyd agree. Boyd is veterinarian in charge of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal Disease Eradication Division in Columbus.

At present, 12 nations won't import U.S. (and Ohio) pork because of the danger of spreading the cholera virus, the two veterinarians explain, and this costs the farmer money. Further, it costs about 90 cents to vaccinate a hog, and the money involved in the loss of one pig, say $34, could protect a great many more in the herd.

As it stands, anyone who eats pork has consumed some of the virus.

But humans aren't susceptible to the virus which, although it kills

North-South Freeway Route Due To Be Marked by August

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—By August, Ohio 1 will be marked out officially from Cincinnati to Conneaut, Highway Director Everett S. Preston said today.

The new route, often called the North-South Freeway, will be nowhere near complete by then, he added, but the department will incorporate existing highways temporarily and give them a temporary Ohio 1 designation to fill in the gaps.

One section already completed is in the northeast corner of the state between Ohio 528 and Ohio 7, a stretch of about 30 miles. By June 30, the department expects to have the 43-mile section from Painesville to the Pennsylvania line completed. This includes the section between Ohio 528 and Ohio 7.

Also completed now are sections in north-central Ohio from Ohio 95 near Mount Gilead to U.S. 250 near Ashland, and from U.S. 221 west of Akron to Ohio 18 in the Medina area. And, again by June 30, the entire 85-mile section from Ohio 18 south to Ohio 61—midway between Columbus and Mount Gilead—is expected to be ready. This includes the two completed sections.

By August, the department further expects to have the section from Ohio 61 south to Ohio 161, just north of Columbus, completed.

Preston said the gap between the section ending at Ohio 18 near

Medina, and the section running east from Painesville, will be bridged by using Ohio 18 east, U.S. 21 north, Ohio 82 east, and Ohio 44 north.

The east and south legs of the Cleveland outerbelt, approved for the federal interstate system, must be completed before any straight-line hook-up between the Ohio 18 and Painesville sections of Ohio 1 is attempted, he declared.

"Then," he added, "we'll see if it's economically justified."

Preston said he is satisfied after a conference this week that the D. R. Smalley & Sons construction firm of Celina, under new management, can complete the important sections for which it holds contract. The firm has had financial troubles in the past.

"I want to emphasize that the Cincinnati-to-Columbus portion of Ohio 1 has not been shelved," the director went on. "It has been a part of the interstate system since 1947, and will remain a part of the system."

"It does, however, have a low priority when compared with many other portions of the system."

"U.S. 40 between Columbus and U.S. 25 north of Dayton is now four-lane the entire distance. A total of 43 miles of six-lane divided freeway (Interstate 75) between Dayton and Cincinnati will be open July 31. This will run from Alexander-Bellbrook on the north to Glendale-Milford Road in Cincinnati."

3 Ordained Women Priests Under Fire in Swedish Church

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Three women stepped into pulpits of Sweden's Lutheran State Church last week amid a storm of criticism and episcopal threats of boycott.

The three, all unmarried, are the first women in Swedish history to be ordained priests.

The question whether to let women take priestly office has divided the Swedish State Church into two camps and has rocked relations between the Church and the State.

Some bishops campaigned for a boycott of the first women priests, while others, including Archbishop Gunnar Hultgren of Upsala, the primate of Sweden, have welcomed them into their dioceses. Still others have not made up their minds.

The clergy against women priests base their argument on the first epistle of Paul to the Corinthians:

"Let women keep silence in the churches I Cor. (14:34)."

And the church assembly, an advisory body composed of 50 clergymen and 50 laymen, in 1958 voted 69-29 against female ministers. Two members abstained.

But the women priests have law on their side.

The priestly offices were made available to them by an act of Parliament that went into effect on Jan. 1, 1959.

Soft-spoken, scholarly Archbishop Hultgren conferred the orders on one of the women, the Rev. Margit Sahlin, 46, in the chapel of the St. Catherine Foundation outside Stockholm last Sunday.

The other women priests are Elizabeth Djurle, 30, and Ingrid Persson, 47, who were ordained at Stockholm Cathedral and Haerlestad Cathedral respectively.

Findlay State Park Water Line Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The apparent low bid of $62,950 to construct a new water treatment plant and distribution lines in Findlay State Park in Lorain County has been submitted by Funk Construction Co. of New London. The Ohio Department of Public Works estimated cost of the project at $68,075. Water will be taken from the park lake for drinking and other uses.

more hogs than any other single disease, will die in an hour if exposed to sunlight.

However, if scraps of pork containing the virus are removed from the dinner table and fed to the hogs, any that have not been vaccinated will be infected. Agriculture officials say this is one of the problems related to spread of cholera.

"We've been fighting this disease for a long time," he adds, "ment laboratories at Reynoldsburg (east of Columbus) were built in 1912 to prepare vaccine. But the highest percentage of vaccination we've ever had in this state is about 47 per cent."

"We've got to do better than that if we are going to get rid of a disease that's been with Ohio since the very beginning."

Ohio Sales Taxes Reach $195,615,791

Ohio sales tax collections reached a grand total of $195,615,791 through April 2, according to the State Treasurer's office.

This sum surpassed the 1959 total of $170,208,816 by $25,406,975, resulting in an increase of 14.9 per cent.

Contrary to state figures, Pickaway County's prepaid tax receipts were down $88,905.80 from last year's sales taxes. Sales taxes through April 2 totaled $208,124.20 compared to the 1959 taxes at the same date of $297,030.

In corresponding weeks, sales taxes collected the week ending April 2 amounted to $4,420.62 while last year the same week collected $7,615.93.

MOTOR vehicle sales tax collections for the week ending April 2 were $4,014.69 and collections through April 2 were $121,290.

Revenue collected from the sale of prepaid tax receipts for the week of April 12 totaled $3,323,262. This figure again was more than one million dollars short of collections during the comparable period of 1959.

The decrease of $1,016,298 or 23.5 per cent from last year's $4,339,550 can be traced to the discontinued use of prepaid tax receipts on the sale of motor vehicles.

This source of income has netted the State $1,083,468 for the past seven days. This would more than off set the above mentioned decrease.

History's Greatest Event

It was a small, simple world that first Easter morning. Those to whom it was given to witness history's greatest event had traveled from their homes no farther than a commuter's bus would take us today.

Yet in the 1900 years since that event the dazzling light of fundamental truth revealed to those first Christians has been neither embellished or dimmed.

Geographically we have expanded our world around the globe and into outer space. And we have learned most successfully how to destroy it in the twinkling of an eye. How little these men of Galilee staring into the Heavens could have comprehended of the universe and still how much, for it can, in truth, be no greater than the mind of any one of us can encompass.

Our world can topple around us as easily through parting with one man, woman or child we love as theirs was destroyed by the Cross of Calvary. On that first Good Friday they had nothing left of that wonderful experience of love and loyalty but a memory and the realization that life must go on.

Christians can claim no monopoly for recognition of the fact that mortal survival is not the be-all and end-all of life. Human dignity has always spurned a philosophy pre-occupied with the saving of our skins. But it is through Christianity with its Easter message that the true meaning is made clear.

The Cross, the empty Tomb, the road to Emmaus, the beach on the sea of Tiberias—these, in their sequence, are the revelation of victory over death. "Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him."

But it was to take time and thought for these first Christians to comprehend it all fully, to recall Christ's own words and realize that Easter was the fulfillment of a pledge—the promise of power to overcome the world and set themselves above its uncertainties, its doubts, its sorrows, its hates and its pain.

The joy of Easter is an indestructible joy, something of which no man can rob us, something which no nuclear fear can destroy. In the Glory of the Risen Christ we are invulnerable. Neither life nor death can separate us from our eternal destiny.

There Is No Leadership

By George Sokolsky

A human being has many relationships. He is a member of a family, of a nation, of a religious group, of a lodge, of a bowling team, of a union. His loyalties are numerous and sometimes conflicting. A man loves his mother, his wife, and his daughter. What family has never known a conflict in these relationships?

The politicians often seek a candidate so bland in his relationships and conflicts that he is really a meaningless creature, as so many of the leaders prove to be in retrospect. The truly strong man does not hide his conflicts; he meets them head on.

Quintin M. Sanger, a reader, writes to me:

"The pitiful thing about all this is that we have a Presidential campaign year with little or no discussion of real issues. We have leading statesmen who are afraid to speak out in the national interest for fear of alienating a minority group. This can only mean a paralysis of leadership, at a time when strong leadership is needed and all religious groups should be cooperating for constructive purposes, in the national interest not that of special groups."

It is not that we suffer a dearth of issues; we suffer a lack of leadership. Leadership must be moral in the sense that it leads to an ideal, to some enormously significant outpouring of the human spirit.

Thus far, there has been no evidence of such a mass emotional response to any political leader since Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term, which ended in the bankruptcy of the Court Packing Plan in his second term.

Since then the American people, on the whole, seem to have become politically narcotized. In the first place, the upper middle class, the businessmen who since Colonial times pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor behind the signature of John Hancock on the Declaration of Independence, abdicated their leadership.

They degenerated into a 9 to 5 rich proletariat which fished and played golf, drank good whiskey, avoided conflict and contest and left the administration of their affairs to their managers. James Burnham intuitively captured the true nature of the managerial revolution in the course of which the capitalist gave way before the technician.

Unfortunately for the United States, the capitalist had nowhere to go. In Britain, he achieved status, was given a title and served the nation. In the United States, during war, he might be a dollar-a-year man or be sent on some mission. But in peace time, his trained skills and services are generally lost. He sits on directorates where he is enslaved to the managerial technician.

What has all this to do with Wisconsin? The two significant personalities in the Wisconsin contest were young Kennedy's 42; Humphrey is 48. Both are what might be termed liberals. Both favor the same degree of socialization for the country. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic; Humphrey is a Protestant. Their votes in Congress have not been very different.

What have these men to say against each other? It came down to nothing political in Wisconsin.

A ROCHEFOUCAULD'S cynical maxims, written over 4300 years ago, still are being quoted. Indeed, a new edition of his disturbing, unsentimental aphorisms has just been published. Examples:

1. We all have strength enough to endure the misfortunes of others.
2. Hypocrisy is the homage that vice offers to virtue.
3. They are most often wrong who cannot bear to be.
4. We often do good that we may do harm with impunity.
5. You can find women who have had no love affairs, but scarcely any who have had just one.
6. Gratitude is like business credit: it keeps trade brisk, and we pay up, not because it is the honorable thing to do, but because it makes it easier to borrow again.

Correct Ears by Surgery

By Herman N. Rundesden, M.D.

All parents, I'm sure, want handsome babies.

Well, as most of you know very well, a newborn baby is anything but handsome. He's wrinkled, his head seems to be too large and there are all sorts of "oddities" about him.

Fortunately, babies soon change for the better. And long before the baby reaches his first birthday, both Mom and Dad are generally convinced that he is the best-looking kid on the block.

There are exceptions, of course. One of the things that sometimes detracts from a youngster's appearance is protruding ears of excessively large ears.

Children can, at times, be very cruel to other children. And a child with abnormally large ears might easily become an object of ridicule.

Frequent teasing about big ears might eventually result in a personality quite different from what the child would otherwise have developed.

While some children may become overly aggressive under such circumstances, most will become retiring and extremely shy. This is very unfortunate for it seldom, if ever, need happen.

Large or protruding ears generally can be easily corrected by a fairly simple procedure.

Usually, an ear specialist will prefer to wait until the ear is fully developed before proceeding with surgery.

Since this development ordinarily is complete by the time the child is five years old, the correction can be made before he enters school. It is in school where the ridicule and teasing is most likely to occur.

The operation isn't a rare or unusual procedure, although parents too often feel that there is nothing that can be done to aid their child. An ear specialist recently reported that actually the operation is no more unusual than that required for correcting drooping eyelids or correcting clubfoot.

I hope this information will be helpful and reassuring to those parents who are worried about the size of their children's ears.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican party leaders last fall treated Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York like a gate-crasher at an exclusive party where Vice President Richard M. Nixon was the guest of honor.

So he went, but under his own power.

The frigid treatment he got so chilled his presidential ambitions—or at least his enthusiasm for making a race of it against Nixon—that the day after last Christmas he withdrew and left Nixon alone in the field.

What he said and what he left unsaid have to be balanced against each other. He said he was no longer a candidate but he didn't say he would object if the Republicans at their convention this summer decided to draft him.

He made no bones about the way Republicans around the country treated him. The professional Republican politicians, that is.

He said: "The great majority of those who will control the Republican convention stand opposed to any contest for the nomination."

But that didn't dim what seemed to be his belief he is a better man for the presidency than Nixon. From that day to this he has never once given his backing to Nixon by name.

And now, just as Nixon is running into some small bumps, comes the news that Rockefeller is going to resume his travels among Republicans around the country.

Nixon, who seemed a shoo-in for the Republicans' presidential nomination at their convention, has stayed pretty mum all year, as if speeches and statements on where he stands would be practically unnecessary till the campaign begins.

This was a little reminiscent—but in reverse—of New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the 1948 presidential race.

Dewey did a lot of talking in the pre-convention days that year when he was trying to beat Sen. Robert A. Taft and Harold Stassen for the Republican nomination.

When he finally got it he seemed to believe what the pollsters told him: That he was a cinch to beat President Truman.

During the campaign Dewey acted like a man who felt so sure he'd win that he didn't think it necessary to commit himself on the issues or promise much when he got elected.

It was a disaster. Truman worked his head off. His victory over Dewey—it was the second presidential campaign Dewey had lost—sent the governor to the political showers permanently. He's never run for anything since.

Now Nixon doesn't know whether he's hearing the sounds of distant thunder. But a couple of little clouds have drifted across his political sun. His ratings in the polls have dipped.

Last week in total votes cast in the Wisconsin presidential primary he trailed the two Democrats, Sens. John F. Kennedy and Hubert H. Humphrey. True, he didn't campaign in Wisconsin but he was unopposed for the Republican vote.

This week, again running unopposed but this time in the Illinois Republican presidential primary, he was more than 150,000 votes behind the total rolled up by Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas, running unopposed for another Senate term. Nixon didn't campaign in Illinois, either.

But, on the heels of the Illinois results, the Denver (Col.) Post editorially said "Rockefeller appears to be the most attractive Republican candidate that could be offered to the people of the United States this year. . . ."

Here in Washington some mumbled among Republicans began: That Nixon had better start talking and campaigning before the convention. But Sen. Everett Dirksen, Senate Republican leader, seemed to think things were going just dandy for Nixon.

"I think," Dirksen said, "his present technique is pretty good." Now Rockefeller will begin moving around again, although this time campaigning in other states for Republicans running for various jobs. And he will take part in ceremonies.

So he'll be getting out among Republicans again. He may not be making a direct pitch for the Republican nomination but he'll be pitching the Rockefeller personality all over the country.

History's Greatest Event

It was a small, simple world that first Easter morning. Those to whom it was given to witness history's greatest event had traveled from their homes no farther than a commuter's bus would take us today.

Yet in the 1900 years since that event the dazzling light of fundamental truth revealed to those first Christians has been neither embellished or dimmed.

Geographically we have expanded our world around the globe and into outer space. And we have learned most successfully how to destroy it in the twinkling of an eye. How little these men of Galilee staring into the Heavens could have comprehended of the universe and still how much, for it can, in truth, be no greater than the mind of any one of us can encompass.

Our world can topple around us as easily through parting with one man, woman or child we love as theirs was destroyed by the Cross of Calvary. On that first Good Friday they had nothing left of that wonderful experience of love and loyalty but a memory and the realization that life must go on.

Christians can claim no monopoly for recognition of the fact that mortal survival is not the be-all and end-all of life. Human dignity has always spurned a philosophy pre-occupied with the saving of our skins. But it is through Christianity with its Easter message that the true meaning is made clear.

The Cross, the empty Tomb, the road to Emmaus, the beach on the sea of Tiberias—these, in their sequence, are the revelation of victory over death. "Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him."

But it was to take time and thought for these first Christians to comprehend it all fully, to recall Christ's own words and realize that Easter was the fulfillment of a pledge—the promise of power to overcome the world and set themselves above its uncertainties, its doubts, its sorrows, its hates and its pain.

The joy of Easter is an indestructible joy, something of which no man can rob us, something which no nuclear fear can destroy. In the Glory of the Risen Christ we are invulnerable. Neither life nor death can separate us from our eternal destiny.

An easy explanation of what love is: one silly thing after another.

There Is No Leadership

By George Sokolsky

A human being has many relationships. He is a member of a family, of a nation, of a religious group, of a lodge, of a bowling team, of a union. His loyalties are numerous and sometimes conflicting. A man loves his mother, his wife, and his daughter. What family has never known a conflict in these relationships?

The politicians often seek a candidate so bland in his relationships and conflicts that he is really a meaningless creature, as so many of the leaders prove to be in retrospect. The truly strong man does not hide his conflicts; he meets them head on.

Quintin M. Sanger, a reader, writes to me:

"The pitiful thing about all this is that we have a Presidential campaign year with little or no discussion of real issues. We have leading statesmen who are afraid to speak out in the national interest for fear of alienating a minority group. This can only mean a paralysis of leadership, at a time when strong leadership is needed and all religious groups should be cooperating for constructive purposes, in the national interest not that of special groups."

It is not that we suffer a dearth of issues; we suffer a lack of leadership. Leadership must be moral in the sense that it leads to an ideal, to some enormously significant outpouring of the human spirit.

Thus far, there has been no evidence of such a mass emotional response to any political leader since Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term, which ended in the bankruptcy of the Court Packing Plan in his second term.

Since then the American people, on the whole, seem to have become politically narcotized. In the first place, the upper middle class, the businessmen who since Colonial times pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor behind the signature of John Hancock on the Declaration of Independence, abdicated their leadership.

They degenerated into a 9 to 5 rich proletariat which fished and played golf, drank good whisky, avoided conflict and contest and left the administration of their affairs to their managers. James Burnham intuitively captured the true nature of the managerial revolution in the course of which the capitalist gave way before the technician.

Unfortunately for the United States, the capitalist had nowhere to go. In Britain, he achieved status, was given a title and served the nation. In the United States, during war, he might be a dollar-a-year man or be sent on some mission. But in peace - time, his trained skills and services are generally lost. He sits on directorates where he is enslaved to the managerial technician.

What has all this to do with Wisconsin? The two significant personalities in the Wisconsin contest were young: Kennedy's 42; Humphrey is 48. Both are what might be termed liberals. Both favor the same degree of socialization for the country. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic; Humphrey is a Protestant. Their votes in Congress have not been very different.

hat have these men to say against each other? It came down to nothing political in Wisconsin. Yet they felt in incumbent to talk although neither had anything in particular to say. So Humphrey accused Kennedy of being rich, which was no fault of John's as his father, Joe, made whatever money the family has. Kennedy did not accuse Humphrey of being poor, although there were references to the New York rich who have financed the Humphrey campaign.

Their adjutants thereupon played up the religious issue, damaging to both of them and to the country. In the conflict of loyalty between country and religion, in an election, country should prevail.

Morally there is no wide gap between Kennedy and Humphrey. Both are God-fearing men. Neither would claim that he is without sin but both are decent citizens, of sufficiently good reputation to have been chosen by their neighbors to go to the United States Senate. It would be a grand day if this conflict were resolved.

proval they vote on it and, if passed, is taken by the Clerk before the County Treasurer, Auditor and Prosecuting Attorney and with them the Clerk of the Township work out the amount which they are to receive and the tax rates.

"As to the fantastic figures, they cannot be too far out of line. As of last December Teays Valley voted a 1.50 mills renewal and a 2.20 mills new levy for 1960 to run for five years, plus .70 mills taken from the Village of Ashville, makes a total of 4.40 for operating expenses for 1960. Then add to this the 4.40 mills which the Board is asking for Retirement Bonds over a period of 20 years, you will have 8.80 mills minus .70 mills inside of the 10 mill limitation - which will leave a total of 8.10 mills.

"What is the Board going to do for expense money to operate the $1,900,000 buildings? You know quite well that all three of the present schools cannot operate on the present 3.70 mills as the transportation cost will be much greater as some of the children will have to travel 17 or 18 miles one way, and that is nearly twice the distance they now travel.

"Now the letter stated that the extra Superintendent was sent down by the State. Does the Board have to accept him? Would the members of the Board be so easily forced into things if they were to spend their own money for the entire project? (I admit they contribute their share of taxes.)

"Some years ago I sat in on a Board meeting when their State man and County Superintendent told the Board members what they had to do or else they would hold up the money. But the Board members did not comply and the State did not withhold the money.

"Are the members of the Committee - appointed by the Board - tax experts? If so - then people just don't work for nothing, in fact - no one does in this day and age; and if they are not, why have them to try to sell the program to the public?

"If we need a school, then build it in our own Township and increase our land value at home. If this Bond Issue is carried, our taxes will be increased to $28.45 per thousand. How would you like that Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer?

"Do you think with real estate value on the decline and farm commodities down 40 to 50 per cent can the farmers keep their properties out of the delinquent columns? Look at the delinquent taxes!

"If they can't pay them now what will it be like in one or two years with the 8.10 increases? Plus the 1962 Appraisal, and for those that pay rent there rent will be increased so no one will escape the high increase.

"As for the records: I wonder if the truck load of books - old and new - that were dumped into Mr. Steele's ravine, valued at approximately $300 or more in the clerks' records? Old or new, the taxpayers paid the bill!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A ROCHEFOUCAULD'S cynical maxims, written over 300 years ago, still are being quoted. Indeed, a new edition of his disturbing, unsentimental aphorisms has just been published. Examples:

1. We all have strength enough to endure the misfortunes of others.
2. Hypocrisy is the homage that vice offers to virtue.
3. They are most often wrong who cannot bear to be.
4. We often do good that we may do harm with impunity.
5. You can find women who have had no love affairs, but scarcely any who have had just one.
6. Gratitude is like business credit: it keeps trade brisk, and we pay up, not because it is the honorable thing to do, but because it makes it easier to borrow again.

News item in a Nebraska weekly: "Police are mystified by the discovery of an abandoned automobile containing a full case of Scotch whiskey. They are working day and night on the case."

Correct Ears by Surgery

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

All parents, I'm sure, want handsome babies.

Well, as most of you know very well, a newborn baby is anything but handsome. He's wrinkled, his head seems to be too large and there are all sorts of "oddities" about him.

Fortunately, babies soon change for the better. And long before the baby reaches his first birthday, both Mom and Dad are generally convinced that he is the best-looking kid on the block.

There are exceptions, of course. One of the things that sometimes detracts from a youngster's appearance is protruding of excessively large ears.

Children can, at times, be very cruel to other children. And a child with abnormally large ears might easily become an object of ridicule.

Frequent teasing about big ears might eventually result in a personality quite different from what the child would otherwise have developed.

While some children may become overly aggressive under such circumstances, most will become retiring and extremely shy.

This is very unfortunate for it seldom, if ever, need happen.

Large or protruding ears generally can be easily corrected by a fairly simple procedure.

Usually, an ear specialist will prefer to wait until the ear is fully developed before proceeding with surgery.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican party leaders last fall treated Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York like a gate-crasher at an exclusive party where Vice President Richard M. Nixon was the guest of honor.

So not he went, but under his own power.

The frigid treatment he got so chilled his presidential ambitions—or at least his enthusiasm for making a race of it against Nixon—that the day after last Christmas he withdrew and left Nixon alone in the field.

What he said and what he left unsaid have to be balanced against each other. He said he was no longer a candidate but he didn't say he would object if the Republicans at their convention this summer decided to draft him.

St. Joseph's

Keeping of the Easter Vigil as it is now in all Roman Catholic churches is in reality a revival of the ancient observance of this great Feast. Pope Pius XII was responsible for the revival.

There will be no morning Mass at St. Joseph's Church today. It is a day of feasting because the Lenten fast does not end until midnight. The Vigil service begins at 10:30 p. m. All those who receive Holy Communion at this service must have fasted from 9 p. m.

The Vigil has three main parts—the light service—the baptismal service and the Eucharistic service.

Easter Song. The new fire is lighted from a flint and blessed by the priest at the door of the church. All present, stand for this service.

When the Easter Candle is blessed the priest cuts the sign of the Cross on it and all lights in the church are extinguished so that they may be lighted from the Easter Candle as it is carried through the church.

At the close of the procession the Easter Song is sung — this song praising the risen Christ is one of the finest jewels in the Church's treasury.

During the baptismal service, which is conducted at the baptismal fountain in front of the church, the reading of the various lessons is held, the litany of the Saints is chanted, the baptismal water is blessed and this is followed by the renewal of our own baptismal vows.

The Eucharistic service follows as baptism leads to Eucharist. No other Mass throughout the year is so significant as this Easter Mass.

The public is invited to attend any or all parts of this service and all members present are urged to receive Holy Communion. However, those who receive at this Mass may not receive again on Easter. Also those attending this Mass are not obligated to attend again on Easter.

Confessions will be heard from 3 to 5 and from 7 to 9 p. m. Saturday. Msgr. George Mason will preside at these services and will have as deacon and sub deacon two seminarians from the Josephinum College at Worthington.

On Easter Sunday the first Mass will be at 8:15 a. m. It will be a low Mass.

At 10:15 a. m. Msgr. Mason will sing a solemn high Mass assisted by the two seminarians. The children's choir will sing.

At 7:30 p. m. another message that our Redeemer liveth will be presented in pantomime, reading and song.

The traditional semi-annual offering for world missions will be presented by the Nazarenes. The three most recent of these offerings have surpassed the one million dollar denominational goal. It is fitting that on this day we give to send the glorious gospel to others around the world.

Church of Christ

Jack Rankin, minister, will deliver the message at the Church of Christ, at the 10:30 a. m. worship hour entitled "The Teacher of Light".

Light does not shine merely for the sake of shining. We are not saved solely for our own sake. We are saved to save. Light shines naturally and not to make a show.

Christians should do good through their very nature. Psalms 119:105 "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and light unto my path". Acts 20:32 "The word of His grace is able to build you up." John 15:3 "Ye are clean because of the word which I have spoken unto you".

Let us take this word today and let the light of it fill our lives. We shall conclude the lesson by showing where no sincere humble Christian has ever lived a life in vain.

Even the feeble light can be seen at midnight. Is your lamp all trimmed and burning bright?

Gospel Center

Sunrise Prayer and praise meeting will be held at 6 a. m. tomorrow. It will consist of singing special numbers and organ music followed by an Easter breakfast at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Hatfield, Memorial Lake. Worship services is at 10:30 a. m. at which time children will be dedicated by their parents, also reception of members will be held. Message will be presented by Rev. Mabel Rife Whipple.

Youth fellowship is slated 6:30 p. m. followed by evangelistic services at 7:30 p. m. Prayer and praise services will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

First Methodist

Easter services will begin at the First Methodist Church with the Sunrise Worship at 6 a. m. The Senior High Fellowship will present a play entitled, "The Meaning of Easter". Members of the Knights Templar will attend this service.

Following the assembly a breakfast will be served in the church dining room to persons who have previously made reservations. The Junior Choir will provide special music for the occasion.

The Youth Choir will sing the anthem in the early service and the Senior will sing "Lift Up Your Heads" by Handel in the later service. ## St. Joseph's

Keeping of the Easter Vigil as it is now in all Roman Catholic churches is in reality a revival of the ancient observance of this great Feast. Pope Pius XII was responsible for the revival.

There will be no morning Mass at St. Joseph's Church today. It is a day of feasting because the Lenten fast does not end until midnight. The Vigil service begins at 10:30 p. m. All those who receive Holy Communion at this service must have fasted from 9 p. m.

The Vigil has three main parts—the light service—the baptismal service and the Eucharistic service.

At the light service we assist at the blessing of the new fire, the blessing and lighting of the Easter Candle, the carrying and distribution of this burning candle through the church and the chanting of the Easter Song. The new fire is lighted from a flint and blessed by the priest at the door of the church. All present, stand for this service.

When the Easter Candle is blessed the priest cuts the sign of the cross on it and all lights in the church are extinguished so that they may be lighted from the Easter Candle as it is carried through the church.

At the close of the procession the Easter Song is sung — this song praising the risen Christ is one of the finest jewels in the Church's treasury.

During the baptismal service, which is conducted at the baptismal fountain in front of the church, the reading of the various lessons is held, the litany of the Saints is chanted, the baptismal water is blessed and this is followed by the renewal of our own baptismal vows.

The Eucharistic service follows as baptism leads to Eucharist. No other Mass throughout the year is so significant as this Easter Mass.

The public is invited to attend any or all parts of this service and all members present are urged to receive Holy Communion. However, those who receive at this Mass may not receive again on Easter. Also those attending this Mass are not obligated to attend again on Easter.

Confessions will be heard from 3 to 5 and from 7 to 9 p. m. Saturday. Msgr. George Mason will preside at these services and will have as deacon and sub deacon two seminarians from the Josephinum College at Worthington.

On Easter Sunday the first Mass will be at 8:15 a. m. It will be a low Mass.

At 10:15 a. m. Msgr. Mason will sing a solemn high Mass assisted by the two seminarians. The children's choir will sing.

Church of Christ

Jack Rankin, minister, will deliver the message at the Church of Christ, at the 10:30 a. m. worship hour entitled "The Teacher of Light".

Light does not shine merely for the sake of shining. We are not saved solely for our own sake. We are saved to save. Light shines naturally and not to make a show.

Christians should do good through their very nature. Psalms 119:105 "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and light unto my path". Acts 20:32 "The word of His grace is able to build you up. . . ." John 15:3 "Ye are clean because of the word which I have spoken unto you".

Let us take this word today and let the light of it fill our lives. We shall conclude the lesson by showing where no sincere humble Christian has ever lived a life in vain.

Even the feeble light can be seen at midnight. Is your lamp all trimmed and burning bright?

It is not strange that someone chose this lonely spot to erect a reverent memorial. It was on a desolate hill that three crosses stood many centuries ago . . . the Cross of the Saviour . . . and of the penitent . . . and of the scoffer.

Always these crosses have seemed to belong to the desolate hills of life. When a man feels the crushing burden of worldly care upon him, when he trudges the steep trail lost and alone — then, either he will claim the Love and Strength of Christ as did the penitent, or like the scoffer he will let his unbelief destroy his soul.

But no man should wait for a time of desolation to make life's most joyous decision. It can be made today . . . and sealed with years of happy service in the church of one's choice.

On Friday evening, April 8, the Pickaway County Chapter of the National Honor Society held its annual banquet and initiation of new members at the Walnut Twp. School. Following the meal served by the Walnut Senior Class, each initiate was introduced and presented a certificate.

The program consisted of a piano solo by Joanna Hunsinger, a talk by Chet Long, of WBNS television and radio, and remarks by George McDowell, County Superintendent. New officers for the coming year also were elected. Those initiated from Ashville were Teresa Cummins, Dorothy Dickinson, Marty Dore, Barbara Hickman, Jim McCord, and Harry Rainey.

Spring hath cometh... and so have plans for Summer Music in the Ashville, South Bloomfield and Duval Schools. The Senior Concert Band will take a well-deserved rest this summer by not having regularly scheduled rehearsals. However, this group will meet once or twice for a few special events. The Senior Band still has quite a few entries on its calendar for the remainder of the school year for such appearances as:

State Band Concert at Mansfield and Scout Jamboree at Columbus on Saturday, April 23; Parade at Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe, on Sunday, May 1, and an Outdoor Concert during the second or third week of May.

SUMMER scheduling for the 50-member Junior Band is quite a bit different from that of the Senior Band. The Junior Band will have 19 Tuesday and Thursday rehearsal sessions during the Summer Vacation period, in preparation for the many numerous events that come during the late summer and early fall.

Rehearsals in June will fall on the 2nd, 7th, 9th, 14th, 16th, July rehearsals will be held on the 5th, 7th, 12th, 14th, 19th, 21st, 26th, and 28th. Final rehearsals will be held on August 2, 4, 9, 11, 16, and 18.

Football Marching Band rehearsals for all interested bandmen will start two weeks before the opening of school. The dates are: August 22 through September 2. Full particulars of the summer music program will be mailed to music students soon.

The children of the Rev. and Mrs. John Morgan, the minister recently assigned to the E. U. B. Church at Ashville and Scioto Chapel, surprised them with a house warming party at the parsonage Sunday, April 10. When the Rev. and Mrs. Morgan returned from the services at the rural church many of the relatives from different places were there to welcome them.

There were 47 visitors at the parsonage. The visitors all brought in covered dishes and all were very well fed before they departed for their several homes. Many of the guests brought gifts to the Morgans who were surprised at the gathering.

Tell Mama It's OK

DEAR ABBY: Once a month I go with a group of Red Cross or YWCA women to a dance at the Veterans Administration Hospital not far from here. I am married and my husband thinks it is just fine. In fact, he sometimes drives the group.

It is my mother who is giving me a hard time. She says she has heard that all kinds of things go on at these dances. I swear I have never seen anything improper occur at any of our dances. Whenever I see those poor battle-fatigued boys I say to myself, "There but for the grace of God goes my brother."

My mother told me to write and ask you if you—a married woman—would go to one of these dances. She says if you would go, then she thinks it's all right for me to go.

WANTING TO DO RIGHT
DEAR ABBY: I would go. I have gone. And I hope to go again.

DEAR ABBY: I can't tell you my name because as long as I can remember my father has called me "Stupid" and my mother has said I was nuts.

I am a clean-living, 16-year-old boy. I don't smoke or booze or run with girls or hang out on street corners. I am in bed by 9:30 every night. My grades are average and I never flunked or was in any trouble in or outside school.

My parents want me to be another Einstein. I just don't have that kind of brain. No matter what I do, it's never good enough. I'll be glad when I finish high school and can get out of this house.

NOT WANTED
DEAR NOT WANTED: Climb upon my knee, Sonny boy. You ARE wanted. Some parents lose patience and use strong language only because they know you are capable of doing better. "Good" is not good enough any more. Standards are higher, competition is tougher. Don't be bitter. Your parents want you to be above average for YOUR sake—not theirs. Use your head, boy—a child who is not "wanted" is ignored, not prodded by his parents.

DEAR ABBY: What can the owner of a small beauty shop do in case like this? I buy magazines for my customers to read. Several of my customers will come in for a shampoo and set and start to read a story under the dryer. When their hair is dry they say, "May I take this magazine home with me and bring it back?" (I never see the magazine again.) I don't know how to handle this problem. I don't want to get my customers mad at me.

SHOP OWNER: Tell them that you have adopted a new policy: NO MAGAZINE LEAVES THE SHOP. I doubt if anyone will be "mad" at you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WET PILLOW": Crying (especially in private) will get you nowhere. Tell him what's on your mind.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

On Friday evening, April 8, the Pickaway County Chapter of the National Honor Society held its annual banquet and initiation of new members at the Walnut Twp. School. Following the meal served by the Walnut Senior Class, each initiate was introduced and presented a certificate.

The program consisted of a piano solo by Joanna Hunsinger, a talk by Chet Long, of WBNS television and radio, and remarks by George McDowell, County Superintendent. New officers for the coming year also were elected. Those initiated from Ashville were Teresa Cummins, Dorothy Dickinson, Marty Dore, Barbara Hickman, Jim McCord, and Harry Rainey.

Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Cromley are attending the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington D. C. this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Riegel are the parents of a daughter, Angelo Jo, born April 2. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Corby Bainter and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Riegel of Ashville.

Spring hath cometh, and so have plans for Summer Music in the Ashville, South Bloomfield and Duval Schools. The Senior Concert Band will take a well-deserved rest this summer by not having regularly scheduled rehearsals. However, this group will meet once or twice for a few special events. The Senior Band still has quite a few entries on its calendar for the remainder of the school year for such appearances as:

State Band Concert at Mansfield and Scout Jamboree at Columbus on Saturday, April 23; Parade at Veterans' Hospital, Chillicothe, on Sunday, May 1, and an Outdoor Concert during the second or third week of May.

SUMMER scheduling for the 30-member Junior Band is quite a bit different from that of the Senior Band. The Junior Band will have 19 Tuesday and Thursday rehearsal sessions during the Summer Vacation period, in preparation for the many numerous events that come during the late summer and early fall.

Rehearsals in June will fall on the 2nd, 7th, 9th, 14th, 16th, July rehearsals will be held on the 5th, 7th, 12th, 14th, 19th, 21st, 26th, and 28th. Final rehearsals will be held on August 2, 4, 9, 11, 16, and 18.

Football Marching Band rehearsals for all interested bandmen will start two weeks before the opening of school. The dates are: August 22 through September 2. Full particulars of the summer music program will be mailed to music students soon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Albar of Mt. Pleasant, Mich., were weekend guests of Pastor and Mrs. R. D. Gruenberg and Mark.

The Bastian Ambulance runs were as follows: Wednesday, took Mrs. Robert Allagre and family to Berger Hospital, and took Teresa Smith of Hedges Avenue to Berger Hospital.

Mr. George Bastian underwent surgery at Mercy Hospital on Monday morning.

Mrs. Eddie Pritchard returned home Monday from White Cross Hospital where she has been a surgical patient.

The children of the Rev. and Mrs. John Morgan, the minister recently assigned to the E. U. B. Church at Ashville and Scioto Chapel, surprised them with a house warming party at the parsonage Sunday, April 10. When the Rev. and Mrs. Morgan returned from the services at the rural church many of the relatives from different places were there to welcome them.

There were 47 visitors at the parsonage. The visitors all brought in covered dishes and all were very well fed before they departed for their several homes. Many of the guests brought gifts to the Morgans who were surprised at the gathering.

MISS CAROLYN Stout of Capital University is spending her Spring vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stout and family of Ashville.

April 26 and 27 have been set aside as special visiting days at the Ashville school. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

We send birthday greetings this week to Guy Leatherwood, Mildred Founds, Clara Sampson, and Mike Courtwright who will celebrate on the 14th, Ralph Peters and Larry Cameron on the 16th, Gary McCollister on the 18th, Timmy Wells on the 20th, and Bonnie Bainter and Edith Timmons on the 21st.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Deal, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tosca and Sally, and Mr. Quenam Tosca are vacationing in Florida. Jimmy and Jody Deal are staying with Mrs. Stanley Beckett, and Gary Tosca is staying with Mrs. Guenam Tosca.

Big Questions In NL Point to McLish, Cards

Sluggishness Marks Season Start for Both Pitcher, Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — As the National League rolls into its first weekend today every club has lost once and the most pressing questions of the moment are:

Can Cal McLish be a winner in the NL?

And, what's with the St. Louis Cardinals?

It was McLish, a husky right-hander with a skinny 8-21 record in the NL through 1951, who went square and became an ace in the American League with Cleveland after a four-year stay in the minors. He had a 46-27 record in four years with the Indians, when they traded him to the Cincinnati Reds after he won 19 games last season.

But in his first start with the Reds, McLish, admittedly a slow starter who has trouble getting his trademark breaking stuff under control, was shelled for five hits, all for extra bases, and five runs in 2-2-3 innings for a 13-0 defeat at Pittsburgh.

A year ago, McLish won his first five decisions with the Indians and four were complete games. Only twice last year did he fail to last three innings, as he did against the Pirates.

The Cardinals, who ran up the top spring exhibition record (18-8), have had even a more sluggish start than McLish. They've missed three times, the only club in the league without a victory.

Right-hander Larry Jackson, who lost the opener at San Francisco, goes again tonight for the Cards at Los Angeles. Right-hander Don Drysdale, an opening game winner, will work for the Dodgers, who are tied for first with the Chicago Cubs and Giants.

A full, four-game schedule is in the works today for the NL after Friday's Good Friday lull.

The Giants, working Sam Jones with three days rest so he can come back against the Dodgers next week, resume their series with the Cubs against right-hander Dick Drott (0-0). Right-hander Bob Buhl makes his 1950 debut for Milwaukee at Philadelphia.

The Phils, with Manager Gene Mauch making his debut as Eddie Sawyer's successor, will go with John Buzhardt (0-0), late of the Cubs.

Cincinnati, pitching young Jay Hook (0-0), is at Pittsburgh against Rookie Jim Umbricht (0-0) in the other game.

Sam, Dow Tied In Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — There was an old familiar look to the standings as the $17,500 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament moved in today's third round.

Sam Snead, a frisky 47-year-old who has won this tournament six times since he took its first staging in 1938, shared the 36-hole lead with Dow Finsterwald at 134.

Snead, from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a 66 and Finsterwald, from Tequesta, Fla., a 67 Friday. They were eight under par for two rounds over the 6,651-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course.

Williamsport Edges Scioto For 11-8 Win

Williamsport strengthened its hold on second place in the Pickaway County Baseball League Thursday with an 11-8 victory over invading Scioto.

Paul Anderson gained credit for the win, although he needed help in the sixth when David Myers came in to snap a Buffalo rally that threatened to alter the outcome of the contest.

Scioto was held to five hits compared to the Deers' 11, but 10 walks by Anderson and two by Myers aided Scioto's run column.

In winning, Anderson fanned six and reliever Myers whiffed three. Losing hurler was Bill Hoover, who went the route. He struck out five and issued six free passes.

DAVID HUMPHREY and Reed Anderson provided the hitting spark for the Deers with 3 for 4 each at the plate. Dick Kaiser was leading hitter for Scioto with 2 for 5.

Hoover had triple and doubles were slammed by Humphrey, Reed Anderson, Paul Anderson and Kaiser. It was the Deers third straight win while Scioto dropped its fourth in a row.

The Buffaloes led for three innings, 2-1, and increased their margin to 4-1 in a two-run fourth before Williamsport exploded for seven runs in the bottom half of the same stanza to ice the game.

Next action for the two teams is Tuesday when Scioto entertains Pickaway and Williamsport travels to Monroe.

Records Shattered In Mansfield Test

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The 29th Mansfield interscholastic relays today will try to maintain the record-breaking pace set Friday by Mount Lebanon, Pa., which shaved almost six seconds off the old mark in winning the four-mile relay.

In the only event of the relays Friday, the Pennsylvanians made the long trip in 18:40.6 to erase the record of 18:46 set a year ago by Akron North.

The record-breaking event set the stage for today's 17 events in which 124 schools represented by 1,137 athletes will participate in the country's biggest high school track meet.

Dean Tosses One-Hitter At Monroe

Richard Dean, Pickaway's slender sophomore right hander, went the distance in limiting Monroe to a lone hit and a Piate, 2-0 victory Thursday.

He poled a home run and triple in three times at the plate to lead the Pirates to win No. 2 against one loss. His brother, Eugene, added a single to the cause as did Flannery.

In going the route, Dean fanned nine and walked two. Hunt took the loss for Monroe, walking two and striking out seven.

Indians Set For Joust With Chisox

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have their first 1960 joust today with the American League's "team to beat"—the Chicago White Sox. Then the two clubs end their exhibition scheduled Sunday in Memphis.

A sweep of the last two practice games by the Indians would start the two clubs into the regular season with identical exhibition-season records of 16-15.

Before the Indians and White Sox flew here together Friday night from Daytona Beach, Fla., Cleveland Manager Joe Gordon confirmed his choice of Gary Bell to pitch Tuesday's opener in Cleveland against Detroit. Bell beat the Kansas City Athletics in the opener last year, 3-2.

The Indians made one more roster change Friday, optioning pitcher Carl Mathias to Toronto and recalling outfielder Don Dillard from Toronto. Dillard will be used as a left-handed pinch hitter. He hit .283 last year at San Diego.

Mathias pitched three innings for Toronto against the Indians Friday, giving up five runs on eight hits as Cleveland defeated the Maple Leafs 11-6.

Jim Perry was named by Gordon for mound duty in the second game with the Tigers Wednesday. Perry gave Toronto only two hits and two runs in seven innings Friday. The Maple Leafs got four of their six runs on a grand slam homer by Jim King, former Chicago Cub, and southpaw Mike Lee was the victim.

Walt Bond, Rocky Colavito, Bubba Phillips and Mike De La Hoz all hit home runs for Cleveland. Bond also got a triple and got himself nicked on the right elbow by a pitched ball for the second straight day.

Big Questions In NL Point to McLish, Cards

Sluggishness Marks Season Start for Both Pitcher, Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
As the National League rolls into its first weekend today every club has lost once and the most pressing questions of the moment are:

Can Cal McLish be a winner in the NL?

And, what's with the St. Louis Cardinals?

It was McLish, a husky right-hander with a skinny 8-21 record in the NL through 1951, who went square and became an ace in the American League with Cleveland after a four-year stay in the minors. He had a 46-27 record in four years with the Indians, when they traded him to the Cincinnati Reds after he won 19 games last season.

But in his first start with the Reds, McLish, admittedly a slow starter who has trouble getting under control, was shelled for five hits, all for extra bases, and five runs in 2 2-3 innings for a 13-0 defeat at Pittsburgh.

A year ago, McLish won his first five decisions with the Indians and four were complete games. Only twice last year did he fail to last three innings, as he did against the Pirates.

The Cardinals, who ran up the top spring exhibition record (18-8), have had even a more sluggish start than McLish. They've missed three times, the only club in the league without a victory.

Right-hander Larry Jackson, who lost the opener at San Francisco, goes again tonight for the Cards at Los Angeles. Right-hander Don Drysdale, an opening game winner, will work for the Dodgers, who are tied for first with the Chicago Cubs and Giants.

A full, four-game schedule is in the works today for the NL after Friday's Good Friday lull.

The Giants, working Sam Jones with three days rest so he can come back against the Dodgers next week, resume their series with the Cubs against right-hander Dick Drott (0-0). Right-hander Bob Huh makes his 1960 debut for Milwaukee at Philadelphia. The Phils, with Manager Gene Mauch making his debut as Eddie Sawyer's successor, will go with John Buzhardt (0-0), late of the Cubs.

Cincinnati, pitching young Jay Hook (0-0), is at Pittsburgh against Rookie Jim Umbricht (0-0) in the other game.

Snead, from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a 66 and Finsterwald, from Tequesta, Fla., a 67 Friday. They were eight under par for two rounds over the 6,651-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course.

Williamsport Edges Scioto For 11-8 Win

Williamsport strengthened its hold on second place in the Pickaway County Baseball League Thursday with an 11-8 victory over invading Scioto.

Paul Anderson gained credit for the win, although he needed help in the sixth when David Myers came in to snap a Buffalo rally that threatened to alter the outcome of the contest.

Scioto was held to five hits compared to the Deers' 11, but 10 walks by Anderson and two by Myers aided Scioto's run column.

In winning, Anderson fanned six and reliever Myers whiffed three. Losing hurler was Bill Hoover, who went the route. He struck out five and issued six free passes.

DAVID HUMPHREY and Reed Anderson provided the hitting spark for the Deers with 3 for 4 each at the plate. Dick Kaiser was leading hitter for Scioto with 2 for 5.

Hoover had triple and doubles were slammed by Humphrey, Reed Anderson, Paul Anderson and Kaiser. It was the Deers third straight win while Scioto dropped its fourth in a row.

The Buffaloes led for three innings, 2-1, and increased their margin to 4-1 in a two-run fourth before Williamsport exploded for seven runs in the bottom half of the same stanza to ice the game.

Next action for the two teams is Tuesday when Scioto entertains Pickaway and Williamsport travels to Monroe.

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have their first 1960 joust today with the American League's team to beat—the Chicago White Sox. Then the two clubs end their exhibition schedules Sunday in Memphis.

A sweep of the last two practice games by the Indians would start the two clubs into the regular season with identical exhibition-season records of 16-15.

Before the Indians and White Sox flew here together Friday night from Daytona Beach, Fla., Cleveland Manager Joe Gordon confirmed his choice of Gary Bell to pitch Tuesday's opener in Cleveland against Detroit. Bell beat the Kansas City Athletics in the opener last year, 3-2.

The Indians made one more roster change Friday, optioning pitcher Carl Mathias to Toronto and recalling outfielder Don Dillard from Toronto. Dillard will be used as a left-handed pinch hitter. He hit .283 last year at San Diego.

Mathias pitched three innings for Toronto against the Indians Friday, giving up five runs on eight hits as Cleveland defeated the Maple Leafs 11-6.

Jim Perry was named by Gordon for mound duty in the second game with the Tigers Wednesday. Perry gave Toronto only two hits and two runs in seven innings Friday. The Maple Leafs got four of their six runs on a grand slam homer by Jim King, former Chicago Cub, and southpaw Mike Lee was the victim.

Walt Bond, Rocky Colavito, Bubba Phillips and Mike De La Hoz all hit home runs for Cleveland. Bond also got a triple and got himself nicked on the right elbow by a pitched ball for the second straight day.

New Phils Pilot Oozes Confidence

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"What happens from now on is what counts," says Gene Mauch, new manager of the Philadelphia Phillies. Thus he scoffs at pre-season predictions the team will finish last in the National League.

The 34-year-old Californian arrived Friday and said he expected the Phillies to play winning baseball.

He gets his first look as manager today when the Phillies play the Milwaukee Braves in the second of a three-game series.

Mauch was picked by General Manager John Quinn to replace Eddie Sawyer, who quit with the season one day old.

Ohio Dems at Convention May Become Caucus-Happy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ohio delegates to the Democratic National Convention may become caucus-happy if U.S. Sen. John F. Kennedy fails to win the presidential nomination. Favorite son leaders of rival delegate candidates in the May 3 primary say their followers will decide in separate huddles where to throw their support if the Massachusetts senator falters—an event both term unlikely. The after-Kennedy issue sparked an open break between Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Cuyahoga County Democratic Chairman Ray T. Miller Sr. of Cleveland and led to rival delegate slates, both committed to Kennedy. Miller said his 29-vote slate, pledged to County Engineer Albert S. Porter of Cleveland as favorite-son, would follow Kennedy's choice if the current front-runner faltered. But Porter, during a campaign swing across the state, said "that impression is erroneous." "If Kennedy should fall by the wayside," Porter asserted, "we would be happy to have his advice and counsel and then meet in caucus to decide what we will do. The majority will decide. We haven't seen anything like that from the other side. They belong to DiSalle." Until Porter's surprise statement, the "all the way" commitment of the Miller faction to Kennedy looked like the major difference between the two slates. DiSalle has insisted all along that his full 64-vote slate, pledged to him as favorite-son would caucus on where to go if Kennedy fails of nomination or withdraws. Porter attempted to turn the tables on the governor by asserting DiSalle's delegates were tied to his choice after Kennedy, whereas Miller's slate would have a free choice. But party leaders questioned whether Porter could prevail against Miller's clearly stated position. The county chairman wrote DiSalle a month before their break that "our pledge to Sen. Kennedy is that we will stand with him until nominated and failing that, we pledge to follow him to whomsoever he may go for president or vice president." Porter indicated a possible exception to separate caucuses if U. S. Sen. Stephen M. Young of Cleveland should ask for a huddle. Miller originally recommended Young as a delegate candidate. But the senator turned up on DiSalle's slate with an apparent understanding for a caucus after the first convention ballot if he wants to go elsewhere. "I think we would be willing to participate in such a discussion," Porter speculated. He claimed "there is a growing fear that a powerful steamroller is being formed in Columbus." Porter cited DiSalle action to start a chapter of the state Democratic organization in the Cleveland area apart from the county committee formed according to law with elected members. "He is the chief executive of the state and yet in this case he has flouted the law," Porter asserted. "He didn't hesitate to come into Cuyahoga County and try to throw out the Democratic party and get his own delegates. It is a violation of home rule." He added that the effort "laid a great big egg." Porter said he didn't regard the DiSalle-Miller scrap as a feud that goes on forever. "I consider it as a major difference of policy," he elaborated. "But it takes two to make peace. I think DiSalle will have to change his policy and attitude. If he thinks he can come in and name his own chairman, I think the prospects for peace are remote." Porter asserted State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman has not found a chairman for his Cuyahoga County branch because no one wants to take the job. "I like Bill Coleman," Porter said. "But I think that in this particular case he is not a state chairman. He is a lieutenant carrying out orders. They were dictated by DiSalle." Porter said he planned to visit all the major cities and predominantly Democratic counties such as Belmont, Tuscarawas, Ottawa and others before the primary. He expressed confidence that all Miller delegate candidates will be elected. They include himself and Miller. In contrast, Coleman said all DiSalle-pledged candidates will win. If the state chairman's prediction comes true, there would be no occasion for a separate caucus. DiSalle and Coleman are among those on the governor's slate.

William Bendix' Daughter Eats Self Back to Obesity

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Remember William Bendix' daughter who underwent a radical stomach operation that dropped her weight from 297 pounds to 118 in a year—a loss of 179 pounds? Bendix, relaxing in his dressing room between scenes of "Overland Trail," told a reporter that his daughter has since eaten herself back to 250 pounds. "You can't blame the doctor or the operation," says Bendix. "Lorraine, like most heavy people, just loves to eat. She'll eat 10 meals a day—even steals food from her own refrigerator." Lorraine herself once said that she ate around the clock, mostly starches and sweets. Then her blood pressure got so high that doctors feared for her life. Her height is 5 feet 2. In 1956, she was three pounds shy of 300. Her doctor advised a new operation that caused food to bypass the digestive process. "I figured my life was at stake, so I underwent the operation," said Lorraine. For a year after the operation, she said, she lived and ate as before—except that her appetite was curtailed. The pounds dropped off until she was a svelte 118—her blood pressure normal. In May, 1957, Lorraine, then 27, had another operation to restore her digestive tract to normal. For awhile, her father reports, she stayed slim, but the love of food got the better of her. Bendix reports that he and his daughter received thousands of letters from all over the world about the operation. "The doctor also heard from medical societies, some of which thought it too daring an operation for weight reduction. Now they'll say it was a failure because Lorraine is getting back up there but that's not the doctor's fault." Bendix, who is no Tony Curtis around the waistline, sympathizes with his daughter. "Lorraine takes after me. I love to eat, too. I love the smell of cooking. It's one of the great joys of life. It's too bad it has to be so unhealthy." ## Ohio Dems at Convention May Become Caucus-Happy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio delegates to the Democratic National Convention may become caucus-happy if U.S. Sen. John F. Kennedy fails to win the presidential nomination.

Favorite-son leaders of rival delegate candidates in the May 3 primary say their followers will decide in separate huddles where to throw their support if the Massachusetts senator falters—an event both term unlikely.

The after-Kennedy issue sparked an open break between Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Cuyahoga County Democratic Chairman Ray T. Miller Sr. of Cleveland and led to rival delegate slates, both committed to Kennedy.

Miller said his 29-vote slate, pledged to County Engineer Albert S. Porter of Cleveland as favorite-son, would follow Kennedy's choice if the current front-runner faltered.

But Porter, during a campaign swing across the state, said "that impression is erroneous."

"If Kennedy should fall by the wayside," Porter asserted, "we would be happy to have his advice and counsel and then meet in caucus to decide what we will do."

"The majority will decide. We haven't seen anything like that from the other side. They belong to DiSalle."

Until Porter's surprise statement, the "all the way" commitment of the Miller faction to Kennedy looked like the major difference between the two slates.

DiSalle has insisted all along that his full 64-vote slate, pledged to him as favorite-son would caucus on where to go if Kennedy fails of nomination or withdrawals.

Porter attempted to turn the tables on the governor by asserting DiSalle's delegates were tied to his choice after Kennedy, whereas Miller's slate would have a free choice. But party leaders questioned whether Porter could prevail against Miller's clearly stated position.

The county chairman wrote DiSalle a month before their break that "our pledge to Sen. Kennedy is that we will stand with him until nominated and failing that, we pledge to follow him to whomsoever he may go for president or vice president."

Porter indicated a possible exception to separate caucuses if U. S. Sen. Stephen M. Young of Cleveland should ask for a huddle. Miller originally recommended Young as a delegate candidate.

But the senator turned up on DiSalle's slate with an apparent understanding for a caucus after the first convention ballot if he wants to go elsewhere.

"I think we would be willing to participate in such a discussion," Porter speculated.

He claimed "there is a growing fear that a powerful steamroller is being formed in Columbus."

Porter cited DiSalle action to start a chapter of the state Democratic organization in the Cleveland area apart from the county committee formed according to law with elected members.

"He is the chief executive of the state and yet in this case he has flouted the law," Porter asserted.

"He didn't hesitate to come into Cuyahoga County and try to throw out the Democratic party and get his own delegates. It is a violation of home rule."

He added that the effort "laid a great big egg."

Porter said he didn't regard the DiSalle-Miller scrap as a feud that goes on forever. "I consider it as a major difference of policy," he elaborated.

"But it takes two to make peace. I think DiSalle will have to change his policy and attitude. If he thinks he can come in and name his own chairman, I think the prospects for peace are remote."

Porter asserted State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman has not found a chairman for his Cuyahoga County branch because no one wants to take the job.

"I like Bill Coleman," Porter said. "But I think that in this particular case he is not a state chairman. He is a lieutenant carrying out orders. They were dictated by DiSalle."

Porter said he planned to visit all the major cities and predominantly Democratic counties such as Belmont, Tuscarawas, Ottawa and others before the primary. He expressed confidence that all Mil-

Publisher Held Prisoner Told He 'Must' Print Article

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A man held the publisher of the Lewistown Sentinel prisoner in his office for about an hour Friday in an effort to get a story printed on the front page of the paper. One shot was fired but the publisher, C. V. Rowland, was unhurt. The man was identified tentatively by employees of the paper as Charles Lynch, 37, a laborer at a brick plant. He was captured by police.

Employees said the man walked into the publisher's office shortly before Rowland arrived. When Rowland came in Lynch handed him two typewritten sheets of paper. The publisher said the man told him: "I want this printed on the front page of tonight's paper with my picture. You just tell me you won't publish this and I'll shoot you dead."

Rowland said Lynch pulled out a .22 caliber target pistol and fired a shot which missed him by a foot or two. Rowland said he thought he could get rid of the man by instructing editor J. Martin Stroup to print the matter. But, after Stroup left the office, the publisher reported Lynch blocked the door with a chair and said he was going to wait with Rowland until the paper came out.

Borough police investigated but Lynch told them: "You get out of here or Rowland gets it."

Then state police were notified. State Trooper Joseph J. Mirelli, watching from a side window, signalled the other officers to rush in when he saw the man put the gun in his lap and gesture with both hands while talking to the publisher.

Employees of the paper said Lynch had tried a number of times over the years to get articles printed.

Sentinel newsman Dick Rubel said the copy today was similar to previous articles. He described it as "religious in nature but with no meaning, almost incoherent."

No charges were placed immediately.

Modern Jesse James Holdup Turns into Real Foul-Up

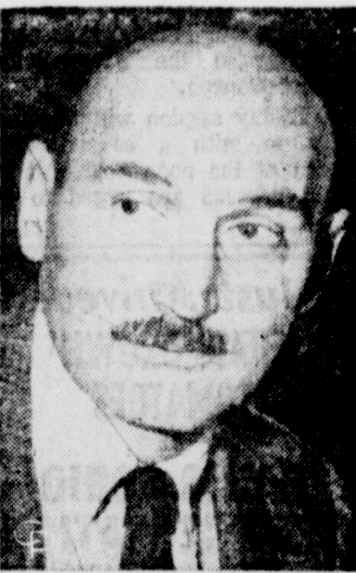

SELSA, Mo. (AP)—Frank and Jesse James must have turned over in their graves. A bunch of amateur "outlaws," celebrating the last run of Gulf, Mobile & Ohio's train No. 9, tried to "hold it up" James style at this Kansas City way station Thursday night.

Talk about fouled-up holdups: By placing a tie across the tracks too soon the amateurs almost derailed a freight train which preceded the passenger; there were so many passengers aboard the three-car No. 9 that "Jesse" and "Frank" couldn't get on to "rob" them, and had to order their victims outside; in fact, the train was so crowded, the conductor never did get all of the tickets punched; there was trouble in the dark telling the costumed passengers from the spectators, so the "outlaws" wound up "robbing" everyone in sight.

When "Frank," portrayed by Gordon Vandevener, hollered, "Let's split up and meet back at the rendezvous," the 15 members of the Jackson County sheriff's posse galloped off into the night through a tangle of automobiles and 8,000 onlookers.

The 97-car freight, running 30 minutes ahead of No. 9 which was en route from Bloomington, Ill., to Kansas City, struck the tie and ground it under its wheels. Crewmen said the tie would have derailed the lighter passenger train had it arrived first. After the freight pulled out, No. 9's headlight appeared and it chugged to a stop. Firing their blanks, the "James boys" rode in. Selsa, then Glendale, was the site of the first train robbery by the James gang.

British Jazz Band Blares: Ban-the-Bomb

ALDERMASTON, England (AP)—Jazz bands blared, bagpipes wailed, a baby howled — and about 9,000 demonstrators set off today on a ban-the-bomb pilgrimage to London.

Britain's nuclear weapons arsenal here was the starting point for the 54-mile protest march this Easter weekend by a diversified band, young and old, gay and grim.

Organizers said the straggling, banner-waving procession — swelled by a sizable group of Communists — will develop into "as big a demonstration as Britain has ever seen."

They expect 6,000 more to join before the marchers wind up at a mass rally in Trafalgar Square Monday.

Hundreds of banners proclaimed "We want to live—disarm now—H-bombs mean death—no Hiroshima here."

Jazz-happy juveniles set a carnival mood for the procession, stretching about three miles along quiet country roads.

Bearded beatniks and black-stockinged girls jived to four Dixieland bands. Dozens of children marched with their parents. A few infants made the trip in baby carriages.

One group sang to the tune of John Brown's body: "Ban, ban, ban the bloody H-bomb 'Or we'll all be dead next year."

Behind a killed piper playing a Scottish lament marched Canon John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Collins is a member of the campaign for nuclear disarmament, which organized the march.

Greek Boy, 4, Is Assured Of Needed Heart Surgery

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—A little Greek boy, his life in danger, appealed to a stranger in America for help.

He's going to get it. Four-year-old Stellakis Parthenopoulos left Friday on a flight to New York for a rare heart operation which holds hope for his future.

It all started with a pathetic question from little Stellakis: "Do you think that the heart of a child has to stop because his father has no money to pay for an operation?"

His plight was described in a letter handwritten in faltering English to John O. B. Wallace, an Associated Press writer in New York whose own health had been restored by delicate heart surgery.

"I write to you by the hand of my doctor, the hand that brought me into the world," the small boy said. "It is from my doctor that I have heard about your heart operation."

"I suffer from my heart too, that is why I write to you. You will understand me better. The specialists of Greece say that unless an operation would be done, one year later I shall die."

"There are only the American hospitals where my operation can be done. I have no money to pay. My father is a poor workman."

"Will you speak to Dr. Aaron N. Gorelik to operate me? Will you tell him that I have no money? The moment when you are reading my letter, my parents will be kneeling in prayer and I too."

Dr. Gorelik is the internationally known New York heart surgeon who operated on Wallace. The newspaper's subsequent AP story about the procedure, during which he remained conscious, was widely printed throughout the world. The lad's physician, Dr. Jordanis Hadjaniastassios, read the account in Reader's Digest.

The child's plea, resulting from the story, was of several his doctor had made to various American institutions and individuals—without getting any answer. But he did get one from Wallace—that he'd do what he could.

"How could you ignore an appeal like that?" Wallace said. "It's that simple. I had faced the same thing this boy faced. I feel I owe somebody something for my own health. It's almost as if I feel responsible for this boy's life."

But long, complicated details had to be worked out to make the trip possible.

Leading specialists here examined the boy again, reported his condition grave, and sent findings to Dr. Gorelik, who agreed to perform the operation free.

American Missions to Greeks, Inc., an interdenominational agency headed by biblical scholar Spiros Zodhiates and which has a care program for the sick, aged and orphaned here, is providing travel aid and costs of special nurses, drugs and interpreters.

Parkchester General Hospital, in New York, is providing a large private room for the boy and his mother, who is accompanying him, as well as basic hospital facilities for the surgery.

Dr. Louis Suchof, head of Allied Medical Laboratories in New York, has agreed to furnish all laboratory tests and X-rays without charge.

Columbus Woman Listed 'Critical'

Mrs. Jean D. Moravick, 35, Columbus, seriously injured Monday in an auto crash on Route 23 north of here, was reported in "critical" condition today in Mercy Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Moravick suffered head injuries and a fractured left hip. Her son, Franklin Lee, 6, received a possible concussion and laceration inside the lip.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said the car crashed into a ditch and rolled over three times.

When news of the entertainment leaked out, another member of the organizing committee denounced it. Kerry-Jane Ogilvey, 18-year-old contender for deb of the year title last year, said:

"I was appalled and disgusted. It is bad enough that these things go on at all. But to stage a striptease act at an important ball attended by distinguished people is unforgivable."

Miss Campbell-Orde said: "Miss Never is giving her services freely and we are going on with the striptease act. The ball is for a good cause and this should add to the money raised."

"The decision to invite her was made by a subcommittee of two young men and two young women. We didn't have time to consult the committee in general and I suppose that is why some of them are angry."

"I must admit I've never seen a stripper in action, but I don't consider it will be too shocking."

Miss Campbell-Orde, who is 19, did consult one adult about her plan: Her mother.

"She thought it was splendid," said the debutante. "But I haven't said a word to daddy about it." "Daddy" is Sir Simon Campbell-Orde, fifth baronet to hold the family title.

Air Force Jet To Highlight Science Fair

An exhibit depicting the flight path of the X-15 aero-space craft will be on display at the 69th Annual Meeting of The Ohio Academy of Science at Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Friday.

It is contemplated that the X-15 will be the free world's first means of actually putting a man through the rigors of space flight.

Designed and built by North American Aviation, Incorporated in cooperation with the U. S. Air Force, U. S. Navy and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the purpose of the X-15 is to obtain knowledge of actual flight conditions beyond the earth's atmosphere.

Spectators can view the eight different steps of the simulated flight mission and can listen to a tape narration which explains the X-15's mission. The actual MC-2 suit and helmet, which will be worn by the pilot who flies the X-15, is also displayed.

AN INTEGRAL part of the exhibit is a panel with six color transparencies showing the testing of some of the X-15's component parts and various human factors which will be encountered during an X-15 flight.

Four Circleville High School and Pickaway Twp. High School students will enter science exhibits in the State Science Day competition Friday.

Representing Circleville will be Brian Bell, Mona Davis and Peter DeNeef. The Pickaway Twp. student is Janet Umsted.
